St Teresa of Calcutta

The Missionary Sisters of Charity's constitutions state: "The general aim of the Society is to quench the thirst of Jesus Christ on the cross for love of souls."

Once during Lent 1988 following mass with the sisters, Mother Teresa met me in the sacristy to thank me for my service to her sisters. I asked her why those words "I THIRST" were on the wall of the chapel. At that time I thought they had been placed there for the liturgical season of Lent. Mother Teresa took my hand and told me quite firmly that those words are found in every convent chapel of her order – taken from Jesus words from the cross in John's Gospel. I remember her distinctly saying to me: "They serve as a constant reminder of the purpose of the Missionaries of Charity. They remind us what an MC is here for: to quench the thirst of Jesus for souls, for love, for kindness, for compassion, for delicate love." When visiting any convent chapel of the Missionaries of Charity – the religious order she founded – one is immediately struck by the simplicity and austerity of the sacred space. There are no chairs, pews, or kneelers. The sisters take their shoes off before entering the chapel and sit or kneel on the bare floor. Typically, there are no ornate pieces of religious art – just a gold tabernacle behind the altar and a statue of Our Lady near the altar. However the image that stands out most in every MC chapel I have visited in various parts of the world is the large crucifix behind the altar and the stark words painted in bold, black capital letters on the wall alongside it: "I THIRST." (Fr Thomas Rosica)

We celebrate the feast of St Teresa of Calcutta (Sept 5) on Labor day this year. We will have a mass at 7pm on Monday evening at St Anthony. We will pray for her intercessions as we anoint the sick. We will have the relic of St Mother Teresa at mass and after for veneration. Patrick Norton will tell his story about being in a Mother Teresa orphanage and of how he received the lock of hair that is her relic that we have that will be permanently in the adoration chapel at St Anthony's. All are welcome to the prayer filled evening.

Blessings!
